WITH THE SWORD SWALLOWERS

THE man who ventures into the jungles of Bush street in the hope of gaining recognition of a legitimate mining proposition is likely to be overcome with amazement at what he sees and hears in the shambles of avaricious faces and itching palms. These gentry have no use for Nevada. That has been demonstrated repeatedly. Whenever a new property comes to the front with an actual production after years of earnest effort these Shylocks arrogate to themselves the right of confidential advice to the world of speculators. For the past five years these men have persistently slandered the mines of Tonopah and Goldfield. Now they deliberately invent false reports and blackmailing fabrications for the mere pleasure of deluding the poor stockholders who had been paying assessments for the previous eight years on Rescue to see their victims writhing in agony when the next step was to get under and boost the market. The torture did not end there. As the market gained buoyancy and the truth became known that the Rescue was a real mine with invincible values the hordes of scoundrels in San Francisco got busy once more and, with a war whoop, descended on the innocents whom they had once before fleeced and tore the last rag off their backs. This operation was repeated again and again until it was thought the trick was worn threadbare. Not so however. It is an old and timely saying that one of a certain class is born every minute and that the sucker crop never fails of a harvest. This well known aphorism of the bungo man is the chief stock of the San Francisco broker who is never happy unless he is tearing down and destroying the constructive work of others. He is the greatest iconoclast of the western coast and it would not be surprising to hear that the next session of the California legislature put the bars up against the jaded gamblers of Bush street. No one would cry out against such action. On the contrary the public at large would applaud any form of legislation that would prevent the brokers of San Francisco from pursuing their nefarious calling to the detriment of legitimate business.

Goldfield suffered when, one year ago last January, these bearish operators knocked Jumbo Ex. from $3.00 to 53 cents in the course of a few days. The mine was at its best, there was endless ore in sight. The grade was of a value such as had not been seen in the camp since the lamented days of the Mohawk in 1906. Everything was favorable, so far as mine conditions were concerned, and there was no reasonable doubt of the statements of the management being verified. The same occurred with the Rescue. The strike that raised this property from a prospect to a mine is less than six weeks old, but in that time every mine manager and many laymen have been permitted to inspect the mine and see the showing. Milling reports and assay sheets were shown without any reservation for there was nothing to conceal. On all sides the management was acclaimed for its principle in admitting the small investor to its confidence and it was only natural that the value of the stock should be enhanced. The enrichment was shortlived. The hungry sharks of Bush street were too strong and too numerous. They had nothing to lose by depreciating the mine. They had not a dollar invested and the only ones who would feel an assault on the property and its management were the deluded fools back in the gray desert whose money always goes to the sure thing men of the coast. The same game was re-enacted three times within a month and each time a heavy loss was inflicted on the investors of Tonopah and Goldfield whose faith was backed by mine conditions without any thought for the caprices of the San Francisco stock broker, who has no regard for the truth or the facts so long as he can make a dollar or two by persistent mendacity.

THE MINE SHOWING OF RESCUE-ULA ENTITLES THAT STOCK TO A POSITION WITH OTHERS RANGING ABOVE THE DOLLAR MARK.

The value of the mine is beginning to be appreciated in the east where a buying movement was recently initiated. This threatened to take the business away from Bush street so another assault was arranged with the result that the advance was checked and prices hammered back to their former standing.

THIS IS HIGHWAY ROBBERY THAT SHOULD BE MADE PUNISHABLE BY LAW.

The rascally system is the same that brought the Chicago Board of Trade under control of the law. The same action will result in this state and California unless public confidence is restored through a square deal.

A WILSON BOGEY MAN

THE president has not yet furnished the public with any details of the sinister conspiracy which he has solemnly declared to exist for the purpose of provoking war with Mexico. Sufficient time has elapsed since the making of this declaration for the elaboration of the story—and certainly the demand for a bill of particulars has arisen loudly enough and in places of sufficient importance to warrant attention. Yet the president remains silent. As in the case two years ago when he denounced the insidious lobby which he said was trying to hamper the passage of the tariff law, and in the later instance when he said that he had secured his information regarding Mexico from "liars," the president rests upon his original assertion and refuses to particularize.

The result of this is two fold. In the first place many innocent persons are placed under an unjust suspicion. And, secondly, the reaction upon the president's sense of judgment is most severe. The country is beginning to realize that the president is accustomed to making unsubstantiated assertions in order to divert attention from his own shortcomings. He has never yet been able or willing to produce any specific evidence in any of the cases which we have cited. He has issued wholesale denunciations and there rested his case. Happily the people are no longer in the habit of regarding the fulminations of the White House as a "thus saith the Lord." They are looking for chapter and verse. These have not been forthcoming. The president has shown himself an adept at fashioning bogey men—but they frighten nobody.

NEVADA SHARES IN LEAD-ZINC PROFITS

GOOD SPRINGS MINE PAYS ITS SECOND DIVIDEND SINCE FIRST OF YEAR

Nevada shares in the remarkable earnings reported by zinc-lead producers. The Yellow Pine mine at Good Springs is making an unusual record as a dividend payer, having declared its second dividend of 10 per cent, $100,000, since January 1, says the Reno Gazette. This makes a total of $200,000 for the first quarter of 1916, and it is believed that the company will pay $1,000,000, or 100 per cent on its capital unless there is a break in the price of the metals, which does not now seem likely. Last year $450,000 was paid and the company finished the year with a bank balance of $162,000. Profits for the year were $699,611.21 from net receipts of $853,199.74.

Next to Good Springs the principal zinc-lead producers of the state are at Pioche, where the Prince Consolidated attracted attention during the last half of 1915 by paying dividends aggregating $125,000, which have been increased $25,000 already this year. This company and the Consolidated Nevada-Utah corporation are building concentrating plants which are nearing completion.

SULPHIDES SHOWING IN THE PAYROLL MINE

SHIPMENT ON DUMPS AT CROW SPRINGS AND FLOTATION CONSIDERED

Dr. Masterson and James Forman paid a visit this week to the Payroll mine, situated ten miles beyond Crow Springs, and are greatly pleased with recent developments. The shaft is now in moist ground and the sulphides are replacing the oxidized ores. The indications are now for greater permanency, while the values remain the same.

A shipment is on the dump, but it may not be forwarded to the smelter, as the installation of an oil flotation plant. Plans are also prepared for listing the stock of the company on the San Francisco exchange.

HEARS FROM ABSENT FAMILY

The letter which passed through the hands of the censors, contained no news of the war except to say that their property is still safe. Two nephews, who were adopted as sons by the Davidovichs, are in the allied armies and they have not been heard from for nearly a year.
